

STARS OF DAVID COME OUT

Support the groups of Sydney Jews who marched this year in the Mardi Gras parade, support freedom of the press – and enjoy. This is essentially the message of The Stars Of David Come Out ... To Play! to be held on Sunday 16 April at the Hakoah Club, 61 Hall St, Bondi at 8pm. The participation of Jews in Mardi Gras has become something of a cause célèbre. Even Jewish community newspaper, Australian Jewish News, which covered the event, was asked to front a meeting of a Jewish ecclesiastical court. So far the editor has declined to do so. Sunday's show will feature a special performance of Export Kibrew with actress, comedian and story-teller Deb Filler with support acts by comics Jackie Loeb and Shelly Silberman. Funds raised go to Dayenu Association (Jewish Gay and Lesbian Support Group) – tickets are $30. Bookings through Hakoah on 9130 3344 or buy at the door.
